SPORTS PHOTOGRAPHY

- A Digital Presentation

by Peter Milsom EFIAP/s BPE3*

Peter Milsom got his interest in photography from his father at an early age; this took a back-seat during his teenage years and twenties, to his love of athletics. When digital photography became more affordable in the mid 2000s, he made the switch from a film SLR to digital.

After following his father along the landscape photography route, he soon realised that it was not the right direction for him to continue.

This was when he started taking images of the things that have interested him for most of his life; motorsport, athletics and wildlife.
