STRAIGHT OUT OF THE CAMERA

- A Presentation by Jim & Debra Bennett

Thursday, 26 February 2026 at 7:30 for 8pm

Jim Bennett has been interested in photography since he was given his first camera as a Christmas present, aged 11. His wife, Debra, was fascinated watching her father producing prints in his kitchen darkroom when she was a young girl. In 2013 they both joined Bottisham & Burwell Photographic Club to make it more of a serious hobby. Since then they have also joined Cambridge Camera Club where they are active members of both clubs and are involved in running the activities of the EAF as well.

During this time they have been able to develop their personal styles of image taking and have gained increasing success in competitions and exhibitions whilst enjoying the process at the same time. One thing they are both committed to, is sharing what they have discovered with like-minded photographers along the way.

The title of this talk "Straight out of Camera" is a bit of a misnomer, as it explores how we take the image our cameras give us, then develop it further towards an expression of what we wish to convey in an image. The talk uses both projected images as well as prints. Jim and Debra feel that the print is the final version of a photographic capture. They are keen to promote this and are happy to share their version of the process to achieve this, from capture to final print.
